Norman has been an instructor for Simpson Strong-Tie since 2006. Over that span of time he has instructed thousands of building officials, architects, builders, and engineers how to build structures safely and efficiently. In addition he has been a guest lecturer to Morris, Essex, Middlesex, Ocean, and Union County Colleges in New Jersey. He also has instructed courses in Orange County College. He has also presented to NJIT and Pratt Institute. Norman has also been an instructor for NJDCA for thirteen years.

Norman's expertise in instruction skills started in 1973 where he was a certified teacher for New Jersey. His expertise in construction and codes started in 1977 through being involved with fasteners and connectors up until today. Besides teaching, Norman is the territory Manager for Simpson Strong-Tie in Central and Northern New Jersey as well as Rockland and Orange County NY dealing daily with code issues and solutions to problems associated with that. His career with Simpson spans over 20 years. Norman's specialty is Factory Built Housing which includes Modular, Manufactured Housing, and Log Homes. He is a former director of NAHB's Building Systems Council, member of The Modular Home Builders Association, a member of Jersey Shore Builders, and a member of Jersey Shore AIA. Norman Hall is also currently the chair for his local Planning/Land Use Board.
